

What can you do with a toothpick? The most obvious answer is to pick at your teeth, but these little wooden sticks can do so much more. Meet Stan Munro, a 38-year-old man from Syracuse, New York, USA who has been turning toothpicks into fantastic works of art.

Stan has been using toothpicks for his art since his fifth year in school, and has turned that passion into his profession.

This exhibit has taken him 6 years to complete, using over 6 million toothpicks and 170 litres of glue. Stan creates all his sculptures to scale and then signs and dedicates each one to his wife, Suzi.

© Solent News & Photo Agency

Mecca, Saudi Arabia

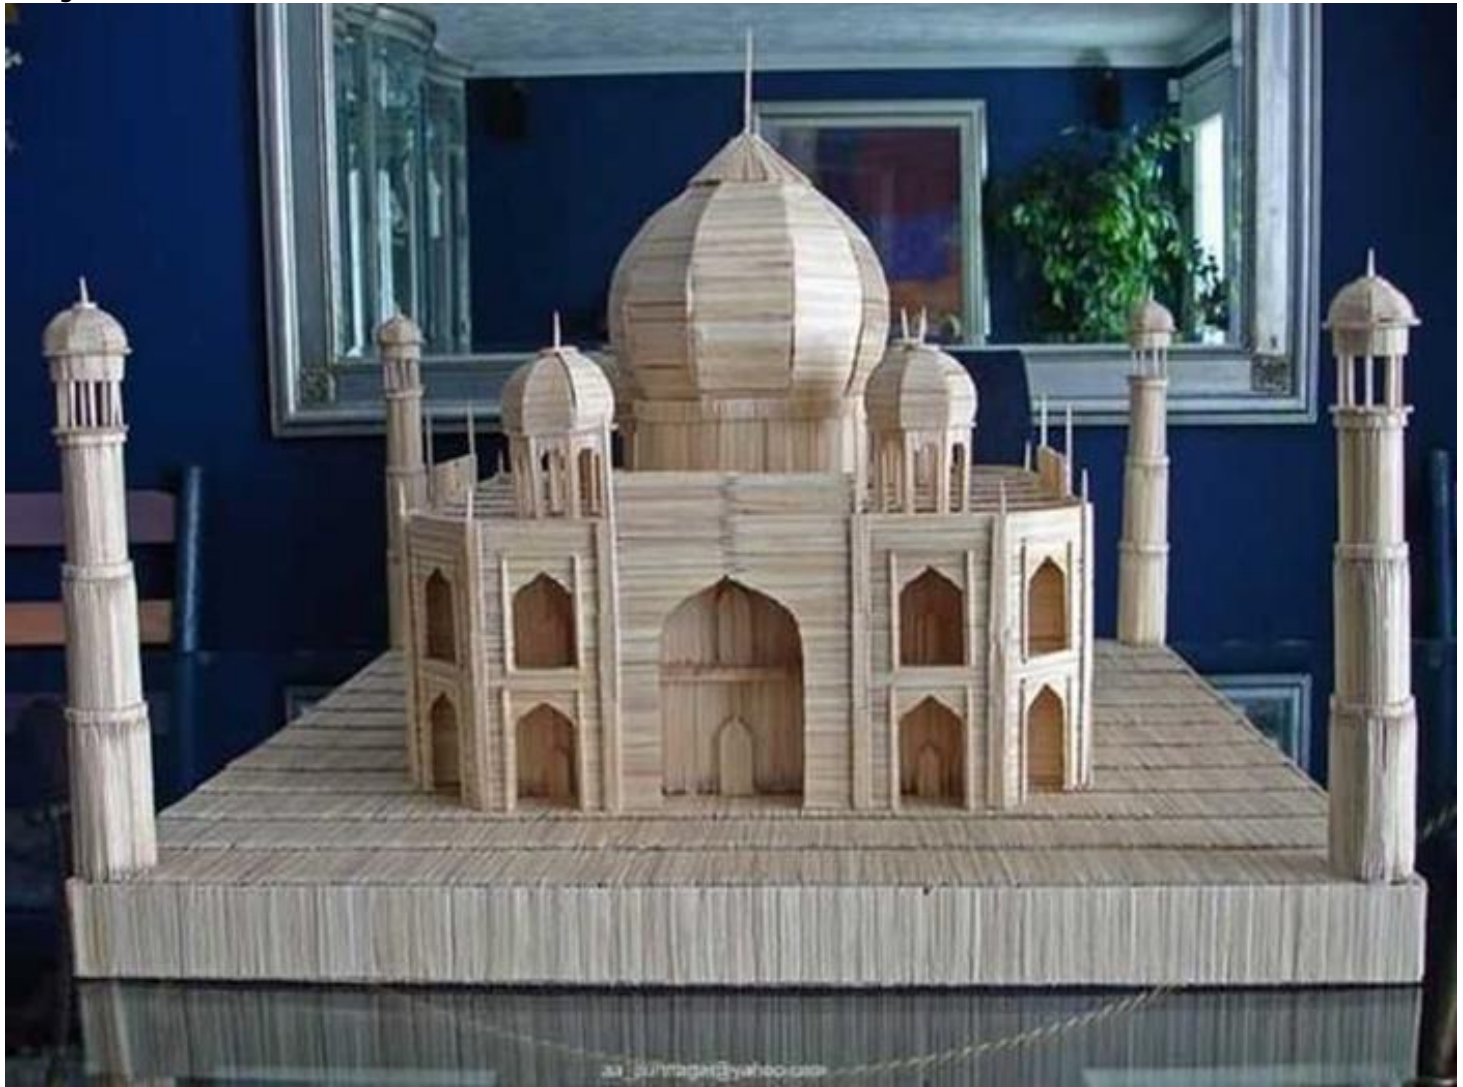

Photo by Sam Campanaro

St. Peter Square, Vatican City

Taj Mahal , India

The Mormon Temple , Utah , USA

Palma Cathedral , Spain

13
Mormon Temple (1892)
Salt Lake City, Utah

14
Wat Arun (1781)
Bangkok, Thailand

Sydney Operah House , Australia

Aspire Tower, Qatar

aa_punnaga@yahoo.com

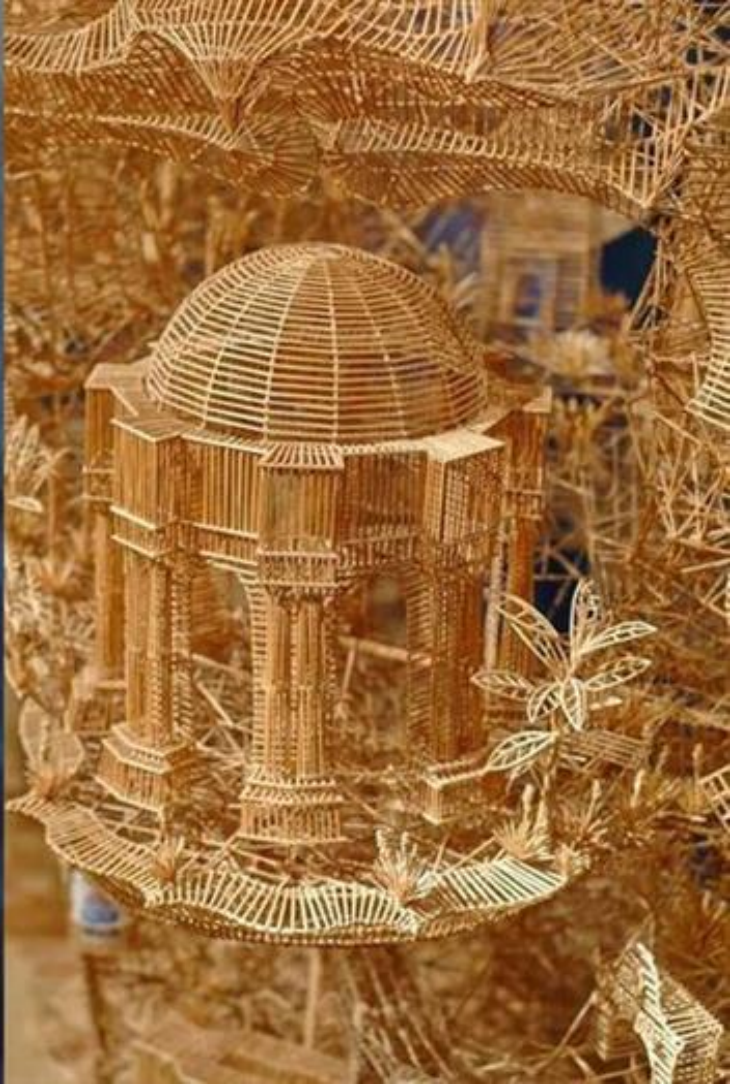

London Bridge , England

The Blue Mosque , Turkey

Temple of Heaven, China

World Trade Center , Bahrain

Borobudur Temple , Indonesia

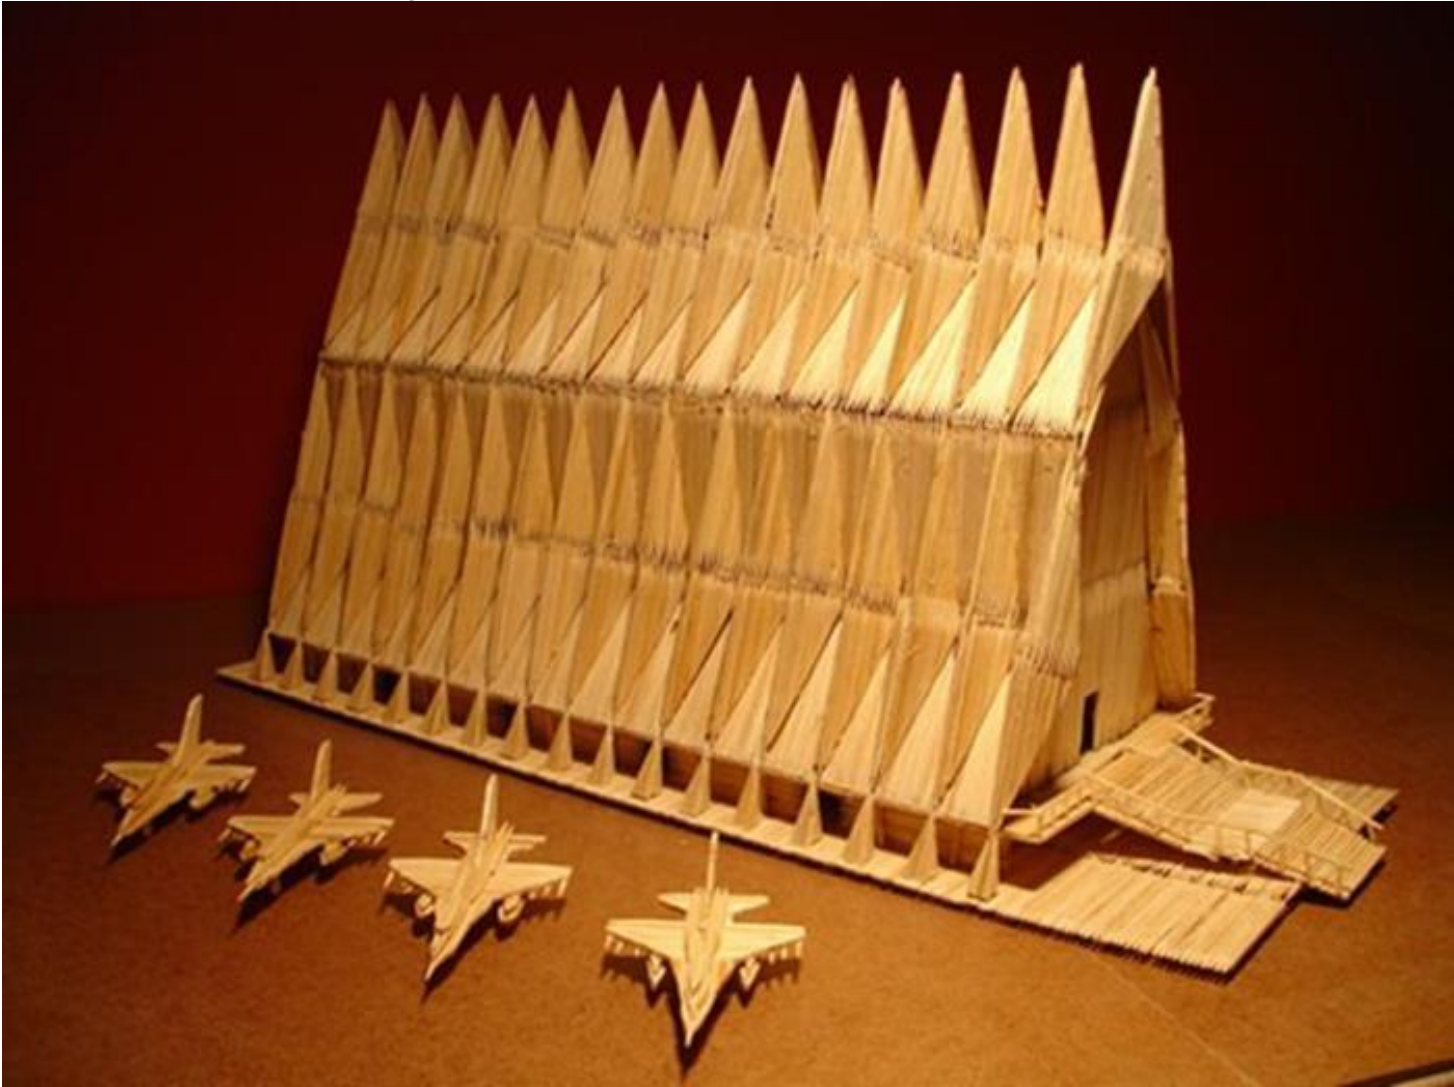

Church of Hallgr mur , Iceland

Calgary Tower , Canada

Air Force Academy Cadet Chapel , Colorado , USA

Angkor, Cambodia

The Great Mosque , Mali

El Castillo , Mexico

The Parthenon, Greece

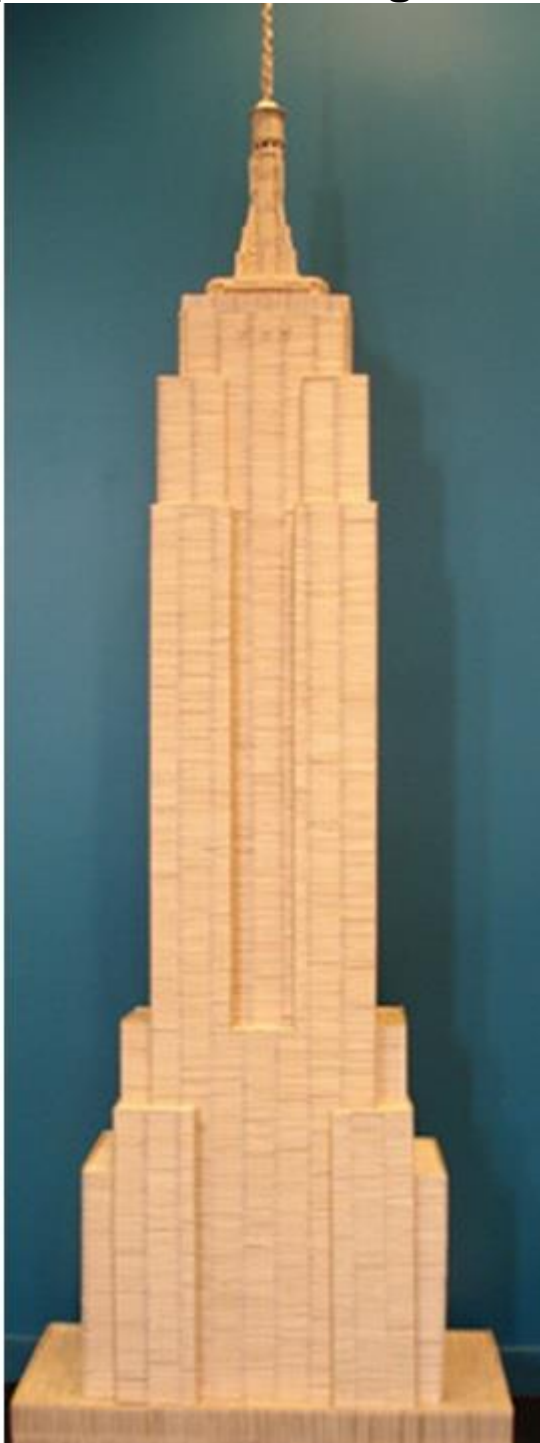

TÅ dai-ji Temple, Japan

Eiffel Tower , France

Empire State Building , NY , USA

The Cutty Sark

Playing around with the Tower of Pisa

